Cynthia Marble is a Senior Consultant with SIGMA Threat Management Associates and a nationally recognized leader in the fields of threat management, national security, executive protection, and global security operations. Before joining SIGMA, Mrs. Marble served for over twenty-five years with the U.S. Secret Service, most recently as the Special Agent in Charge for the U.S. Secret Service Houston Field Office where she managed the Secret Service offices in Houston and Austin, Texas, as well as Mexico City. She has extensive experience conducting as well as supervising threat assessment and protective intelligence investigations on high-profile public officials and public figures. She has also served as a senior supervisor on the Secret Service Presidential Protective Division and held the position of Director, Threat Policy Coordination/U.S. Secret Service Liaison on the National Security Council Counterterrorism office. Her background includes more than twenty-six years of experience managing political, integrity and security risks in complex and hostile environments. She has managed Presidential visits to Afghanistan and accompanied senior officials to Pakistan's Peshawar Province. Mrs. Marble earned her Bachelor's degree in Political Science from the University of Houston in 1987 and was appointed to the Senior Executive Service in January, 2011.
